The Defense Intelligence Agency

Presented by

Mr. Roderic Carl Jackson

Defense Intelligence Chair, U.S. Army Command and General Staff College
DIA Representative to the U.S. Army Combined Arms Center/Army University

December 10, 2019
12:30 p.m. – 1:30 p.m.
Arnold Conference Room • Lewis and Clark Center
100 Stimson Avenue • Fort Leavenworth, Kansas 66027

In this fifth presentation for AY2020 of the Interagency Brown-Bag Lecture Series co-hosted by the U.S. Army Command and General Staff School and the Simons Center for Interagency Cooperation, Mr. Roderic C. Jackson, the Defense Intelligence Chair and Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) Representative to the Combined Arms Center and Army University, will lead a discussion and provide insight into the Defense Intelligence Agency, which is one of our nation's least understood intelligence organizations.

Roderic C. Jackson, the Defense Intelligence Chair and Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) Representative to the Combined Arms Center and Army University, has more than 30 years of experience in national security affairs with long-term interest in African security. He has served with the DIA more than 16 years as a military and civilian employee. Among his numerous assignments and deployments, Mr. Jackson has worked as a Defense Attaché and as a policy advisor to leaders at U.S. Africa Command (AFRICOM), U.S. Central Command (CENTCOM), and U.S. European Command (EUCOM).

All lectures in this series are free and open to the public.
Attendees are welcome to bring their own lunches into the conference room for the presentation.
